

Rights and Duties

1. NABET will make information about the current status of accredited organizations that have been granted accreditation publicly available on its website. This information will be updated regularly and will include the following elements:
 - Name and address of each accredited organization.
 - Dates of granting accreditation and expiry dates
 - Scopes of accreditation
 2. Organizations must cooperate as necessary to enable NABET to verify the fulfilment of assessment/accreditation requirements and provide evidence of compliance.
 3. The organization shall provide access to information, documents, records, equipment, locations, and personnel as necessary to verify compliance with the requirements for accreditation or assessment, whether directly owned, engaged, or subcontracted by the organization.
 4. NABET reserves the right to refuse its accreditation and assessment services for reasons including proven evidence of malpractice, fraudulent behaviour, falsification of information, or deliberate violation of accreditation or assessment requirements.
 5. Any significant changes under NABET's control are communicated to the organizations before they are adopted, allowing these organizations the opportunity to comment. Once the changes are published, NABET updates documents to verify that organizations have adapted to the changes.
 6. Any additional information relevant to applicants can be provided by the designated person at NABET upon request.
